FUN THINGS TO MAKE & DO TOGETHER

HAVE A HEART

Here's a creative project where a little waiting has a big payoff: kids use colored glue to create glasslike suncatchers that really shine. To make one, soak a length of yarn in a solution of equal parts white glue and water. Shake off any excess, then shape the yarn into a heart on waxed paper. Repeat to make a smaller heart inside the first one, if you like. Let the yarn dry (1 to 2 days); do not remove it from the waxed paper. Tint mini bottles of white glue with a few drops of paint. Fill the heart with a thin layer of glue. Let the glue dry (1 to 2 days). After it has dried, peel the heart from the paper, then use a hole punch and string to hang it.

TAKE IT FURTHER
To create a marbled effect, swirl two colors together when filling the heart with glue.
